PLEASE NOTE: The nature of timber is that it may shrink, split and crack in hot weather as it gives up moisture into an atmosphere drier than itself, and may swell in wet weather as it takes up moisture from an atmosphere wetter than itself. We are not responsible for this as it is an inherent characteristic of wood, we give this information so you can make informed decisions about using wood.

Morning Mark

I understand that you have already been on site to inspect this tree. I will need to get three quotations for its removal and it will be discussed by the Project and Amenities on the 28 September.

I look forward to receiving your quotation in due course.
